Make dot h file

Use poole.h as an example. Collect all of your methods and put them in a single file. Use poole.h to figure out the file header and footer. Test your file!

If you make something really groovy, others can use your dot h file if you are ok with it.